PLAGIARISM CHECK REPORT

The University has revised the B.Ed. study material during the academic year 2022-23, and the updated content has been approved by the NCTE-SRC, New Delhi. This revised B.Ed. programme is being offered exclusively in Telugu medium. The revisions made to the study material represent a significant improvement over the previous content that has been in use for many years.

In accordance with University Grants Commission (UGC) guidelines, a plagiarism certificate is typically required to be submitted along with the course material. However, we would like to bring to your attention that there is currently no plagiarism detection software available that is compatible with Telugu-language content. The available tools, which are designed for English and other widely spoken languages, are not capable of processing or generating valid plagiarism reports for Telugu medium materials.

Despite this limitation, we would like to assure the UGC-DEB that the Self-Learning Materials (SLMs) developed by the University are original and were created in-house by qualified faculty members and subject experts from the field of Teacher Education. These materials were written specifically for this programme and have not been copied or reproduced from any other sources.

In light of this, we respectfully request the UGC-DEB to consider this explanation as a substitute for the plagiarism certificate for the Telugu medium SLMs of the B.Ed. (ODL) programme.
